Samuel G. Smith, a young insurance broker at No. 179 Market-st., left the city last Friday, and his place of sojourn is not known. He has a wife and two children at No. 20 Marshall-st. In the same office is the firm of Dunham & Woodruff, insurnce agents. Mr. Dunham placed the most of his business in Smith's hands, and a majority of the risks he secured were on the Atlantic Mutual Fire Insurance Company. Dunham said yesterday that Insurance Company. Dinham said yesterday that Smith had failed to turn over to him for the insurance companies the amounts collected by him on risks secured. Mr. Dunham had sent out, he said, notices to all persons who had taken out policies and paid the premiums. The majority of these persons would have to pay the amounts again, as Smith was not authorized by Dunham or the insurance companies to act as a collecting agent. The total amount involved is about $2,000.

RETICENCE ABOUT A VANDERBILT DIVORCE A report was published yesterday to the effect that the aid of the courts would be invoked to bring about a separation, if not an actual divorce, between Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt. Chauncey M Mr. and Mrs. William R. Vanderbilt. Slegal adviser in the matter, refused to discuss it last night. Joseph H. Choate, who has Mrs. Vanderbilt's interests in hand, would say nothing on the subject. He returned a laconic "no," written on the bottom of a note sent to him by a Tribune reporter, in which note information regarding the case was requested.

Dr. Clark, the dentist of Plainfield, N. J., who suffers from continued and violent hiccoughing, has now been sick a week, and there appears to be no signs of improvement. The hiccoughs occur at in-tervals of about twelve seconds, and are violent at times. About all the known methods have been tried to stop his sufferings, but without any suc-cess.

AFFAIRS IN BROOKLYN.

IN DANGER FROM ELECTRICITY.

The Board of Commissioners of Electrical Subways submitted its annual report to Mayor an interesting statement by John A. Barrett, electrician of the board, with regard to subterranear the trolley railroads. Mr. Barrett says other things: "The single trolley is the only sys-tem in use here. The positive pole of the generators is connected to the outgoing trolley wire. The current descending from the overhead wire through the curs to the rail seeks a return to the power station, and in its return distributes itself natur-ally over the several paths offered to it. The prinally over the several paths offered to it. The principal part of the current returns to its source, but a large proportion of it passes from the rails through the earth to the water pipes.

"All the electricity which is received by the pipes must pass along the pipes to other places where it will leave the pipes and where it will produce an amount of damage proportioned to its volume and the concentration with which it flows. The places where the accumulated current chiefly tends to leave the pipes are found to constitute well defined districts generally near the power stations. The conditions along the shore from the Navy Yard to Erie Hasin are seriously compromising to the safety of water pipes."

Mr. Harrett singests as a remedy for this state of affairs that a more liberal system of return conductors be supplied by the railroad companies.

H. W. Murray, clerk of accounts in the Con-troller's office, has been told by Controller Palmer that his services will not be required after February Mr. Murray is a Democrat, and has held the place for one year and two months. His salary is

Lewis made the chief address, in which he took a new fications of the patron saint. Chariton T. Lewis made the chief address, in which he took a new stand and sconted the idea that Franklin was lacking in the qualities of the poetic temperament. I't is wrong," he said, "to picture Franklin as lacking in the imaginative faculty. In prescience and a prophetic instinct that was prolific in ideas left to future generations to develop and thrive on he has a right claim to be called in some sort a poet. And Mr. Lewis passed in review the many originations of Franklin in the field of physics, the Junto with its religious tolerance, his carrying the newspapers in the mails, and his other reforms, political and moral.

Ex-Senator Warner Miller said he would not deny that the modern press was "the source of liberty, the pailadium of human rights, and the only cause of advance to humanity. Undoubtedly," he said, "the papers have contributed to the reform that has been accomplished within the last few months. The millennium of politics has arrived, Partisanship gives way to bi-partisanship, and we are all tonight non-partisan, bi-partisan in our following on Saint Benjamin."

Will Carleton, the poet, for his speech, asked permission to read a letter he had received, which proved to be a new edition of the "Letters from Hell," signed by a member of the Franklin family, but entirely "up to date."

Other speakers were ex-Postmaster-General Thomas L. James, P. Hopkinson Smith and David Blakely.

Professor Giddings discussed the origin of the word "sociology" and its meanings, past and present, and then proceeded to give an account of the scope and aims of sociological study in a university. There was a general tendency to regard the subject, the speaker said, as a psychological rather than a physiological problem. One of the chief phenomena to be studied in the subject as such was the power of selection, which was in society as it was in individuals.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

Key West Light-Station.

Notice is given that, on or about February 5, 1805, the third-order light at Key West Light-Station, on Key West Island, will be re-established with the characteristics described in the List of Lights and Fog Signals, excepting that its focal plane will be 90% feet above mean high water, and its visibility, in clear weather, will be 16% nautical miles, the observer's eye 15 feet above the sea. On the same date the temporary fixed white lens-lantern light, exhibited from a pole on the tower during the work of rebuilding, will be discontinued.

This notice affects the List of Lights and Fog Signals, Atlantic and Guif Coasts, 1894, page 116, No. 75%, and the List of Beacons and Buoys, Seventh Light-House District, 1853, pages 12 and 27.
